

MAKAN LAH!

OBJECTIVE:

- For elderly to have fun, in order to counter geriatric depression.
- For elderly to understand food health and nutrients

LEISURE FOR A GREATER CAUSE:

In line of Health Promotion Board's (HPB) message on healthier eating for elderly, This game is created in the aims of educating elderly about the nutrients in the food that they often see at their nearby hawker centre. The game also teaches them ways to eat healthier and balance out their nutrients.

LEISURE WITH EASE:

Being fun and family friendly, this game is easy to play, fun, and not overly competitive. It can be played anytime, anywhere, and with anyone. This game acts as a great ice breaker or past time for elderly.

LEISURE FOR NOSTALGIA:

In conjunction with the game title, "MAKAN LAH!", the food cards contain many nostalgic local Singaporean food, a good way for elderly to start conversations upon.

OVERALL STYLE PLANNING

As the main target audience is elderly, nostalgia is inevitably one of the most important points of the game design. To make sure elderly knows exactly what they are seeing, the graphics should be somewhat realistic whilst being fun.

With the use of a nostalgic form of art, the art style aims to evoke a sense of nostalgia within the elderly, reminding them of the art they used to observe in the past.

THE SILVER GENERATIONAL MYTH

When looking at the silver generation, many would (unintentionally) hold a stigma against them. People often like to view people of the silver generation as people who are weaker than them in various aspects. Their pride in being taken as stubbornness and their ageing is seen as a sign of them becoming less of an adult. This results in many treating them with the attitude that they would when treating children. This is a common misconception.

Their age grants them more life experiences, and this meant that they are to be treated as adults. Therefore, in this game design, I have made sure to make the game fun, vibrant and engaging all whilst not making it seem like a game for children.

THE MAKING OF...

THE COLOURS

Beige is used as the first color theme and the face of the card. It symbolizes simplicity, calmness, and neutrality. Its earthy tone connects it to the natural world, evoking a sense of stability and reliability. In color psychology, beige is often seen as a color of simplicity and comfort, providing relaxation and tranquility.

Beige also aesthetically goes well with the colours of various food products due to its earthy tones, thus making it the perfect base shade.

Red is used as the second color theme for the card back.

The reason to use red is that it represents passion and is an attention grabber and stimulates the appetite.

A darker red is used in this case as the darker hue brings about nostalgia. Moreover, dark red is more gentle on the eyes as compared to bright red that is often used in fast food chains.

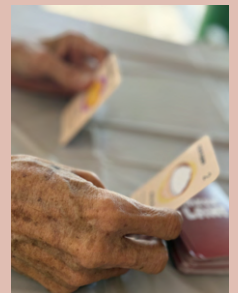

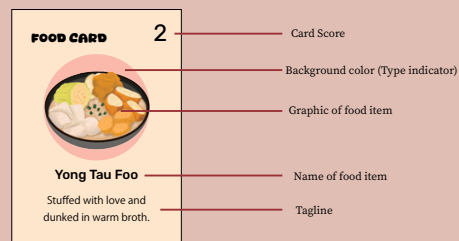

THE FOOD CARD

WHAT MAKES IT VISUALLY DELICIOUS?

The card is designed to both be visually appetising and comfortable to look at at the same time. Thus, the design colours and layout underwent thorough research and planning.

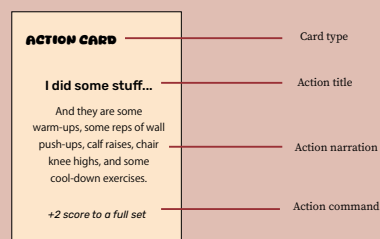

GRAPHIC DESIGN FOR THE CARD:

- Clearly state that the card is a "Food card" on the top left
- Show the score on the top right
- The overall design is to resemble a menu, to fit the theme of a food game
- The tagline acting as an advertisement to "promote" the food item

THE ACTION CARD

- The action card is to be simple and straight forward, stating clearly the commands on the card itself.

DESIGN CONCEPT:

Action cards should be simple and states the purpose easily. As each card has different content, the text should perfectly describe what it is meant for to prevent any misconception.

CONTENTS:

Action card allows strategic gameplay, letting players add score to their own set, sabotage other players, and protect themselves

SIMPLICITY:

Due to the overwhelming amount of graphics and content in the game, the action card is being kept simple, with no extra graphics. On the other hand, the text and their pur-
